To the Tempe Community at Large:

One of the most public roles of the Tempe Community Council (TCC) for the past 28 years has been to distribute human services funds on behalf of the City of Tempe. It has been my privilege this year to Chair this well regarded process, known as Agency Review.

What makes this process a truly unique community effort, and more than purely a grant cycle, is that TCC mobilizes interested volunteers, who work and/or live in Tempe, to bring Agency Review that human element. For Fiscal Year (FY) 2013/2014, TCC worked with 48 volunteers, who dedicated an estimated 20 hours each, over a four-month period, to reading human service proposals, evaluating them, interviewing those agencies, and finally making funding recommendations to the City Council. This process is arduous, eye-opening, complex, and completely rewarding for everyone involved.

Agency Review funds come from the City of Tempe General Revenue Fund, Federal Community Development Block Grants, and water utility customer donations through Tempe's Help to Others (H2O). The total funds recommended for distribution this year are close to $968,000, and will be allocated to 27 agencies Valley-wide with 40 programs serving Tempe clients. Those services include programs for our youth, seniors, those with disabilities, the working poor, survivors of domestic violence, and the homeless.

I'd like to thank those volunteers who dedicated their time and treasured insight to this process, as well as the TCC staff who assembled all of the information and coordinated the process. Together we make an impact. Together we care.

Because we are Tempe,

During annual program evaluation, Council expressed a strong desire to ensure funds remained dedicated to increasing need for senior programming. For the FY 13/14 cycle, the agency review committee recommended setting aside $59,869 as seed funds for an innovative senior pilot program in partnership with MAG. $4,370 is recommended to be added from the increase in CDBG funds.
